A Minute with Mike

Dr. Karl Menninger is a world-famous psychiatrist. After one of his lectures, he opened up to a question-and-answer session. One attendee asked, "What would you advise someone to do if he felt a nervous breakdown coming on?"

Everyone expected the good doctor to say, "Consult a psychiatrist." Instead, Dr. Menninger said, "Lock up your house, go across the railroad tracks, find someone in need, and do something to help that person." This psychiatrist believed strongly that those who serve others in some way will have fewer mental and psychological issues.

On the flip-side of that, he believed the best way to risk mental and emotional health problems is to think only about oneself all the time.

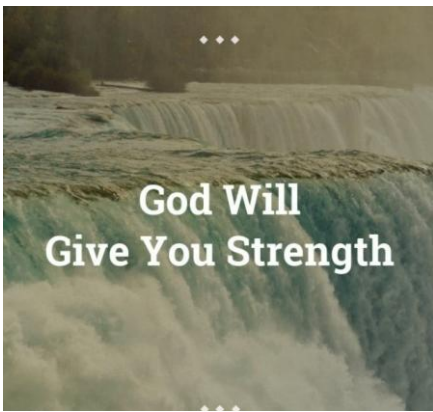

Jesus gave us the two greatest commandments. In Matthew 22:37-39, we read, "You must love the Lord your God with all your heart, all your soul, and all your mind. This is the first and greatest commandment. A second is equally important: love your neighbor as yourself."

As we go about our journey, we should look for opportunities to reach out to someone who could use a helping hand.

That small action may be a great benefit to another. It will also benefit us. And, of equal or greater importance, it will be pleasing to God.

Blessings in Christ,

Mike
